One.5° - Global Warming in the Context of the Earth's Natural Carbon Cycle (Apr 1)

Yuen Lecture Series Presents Episode 1 - Global Warming in the Context of the Earth's Natural Carbon Cycle 全球暖化與碳循環
April 1, 2021 | 8:30pm HKT

David Archer
Professor of Geophysical Sciences
The University of Chicago

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO | The Hong Kong Jockey Club University of Chicago Academic Complex
The University of Chicago Francis and Rose Yuen Campus in Hong Kong | DEPARTMENT OF THE GEOPHYSICAL SCIENCES

What are the earth's natural carbon cycles and how have humans contributed to our warming planet? Can we reverse course or is it too late? UChicago Professor David Archer will provide a scientific and historical context to the earth's cooling and warming cycles to launch the important new UChicago Yuen Campus climate series: One.5°.

One.5° is a new UChicago Yuen Campus series that explores questions on climate change and seeks answers from global experts from many disciplines. One.5° will highlight and draw attention to the issues, raise awareness and discuss solutions that individuals, communities, institutions and governments should consider to have an impact. We'll discuss government policy and regulation that is working, how capitalism and corporate behaviors are changing and highlight success stories.
