THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

The graphic features a dark blue background with a stylized map of Japan and three glowing blue nuclear cooling towers. A circular portrait of Robert Rosner is on the left. The text is in white and red.

This UChicago Yuen Campus program seeks to understand and put into perspective the truth regarding Fukushima wastewater. Our UChicago expert will discuss the policy implications and long-term governance of nuclear energy ethics, the potential health risks, and whether the current PR and public outcry are justified.

About the Speaker

Wu Hung holds the Harris A. Vanderstappen Distinguished Service Professorship at the Department of Art History and the Department of East Asian Languages and Civilizations at the University of Chicago, and is also the director of the Center for the Art of East Asia at the same university. An elected member of the American Academy of Art and Science and the American Philosophical Society, he sits on multiple domestic and international committees. He has received many awards for his publications and academic services, including the Distinguished Teaching Award (2008) and Distinguished Scholar Award (2018) from the College of Art Association (CAA), an Honorary Degree in Arts from Harvard University (2019), and the Distinguished Lifetime Achievement Award for Writing on Art from CAA (2022).

Hailed as one of the most important historians of Chinese art today, University of Chicago Professor Wu Hung has received numerous awards for his teaching and prolific publications.

Over the last forty years, Wu Hung has worked to develop new methods to interpret and write about Chinese art by reviewing, challenging and redefining concepts from the history of Western art. And, he has integrated conventionally separate fields of both traditions into new art historical narratives to advocate for a new global perspective on art history.

Hong Kong will host three special lectures in multiple venues to share Wu Hung's methods and narratives that are reinvigorating and redefining global art history today.
