Register HK Event: Experiences and Lessons from Protecting Human Creatives Using Adversarial AI Tools (July 4, 6:30 pm)

The poster features a light blue background with a subtle pattern of small, overlapping circles. At the top, the title "Experiences and Lessons from Protecting Human Creatives Using Adversarial AI Tools" is written in a dark blue font, followed by the Chinese title "對抗人工智能保護人類創作". Below the title, the date and time "July 4, 2024 | 6:30pm HKT" are displayed. Two circular portraits of speakers, Ben Zhao and Heather Zheng, are shown. Below their names and titles, the University of Chicago logo and the "DIRECTOR'S PICK" logo are visible. The word "NIGHTSHADE" is written in large, bold, grey letters across the bottom right of the poster.

Register HK Event: Spiderweb Capitalism: How Global Elites Exploit Frontier Markets (July 9, 6:30 pm)

DIRECTOR'S PICK THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Spiderweb Capitalism:
How Global Elites Exploit Frontier Markets
資本主義蜘蛛網：全球菁英如何開拓前沿市場
July 9, 2024 | 6:30pm HKT

Kimberly Kay Hoang
Professor of Sociology and the College, the Director of Global Studies
The University of Chicago

In 2015, the anonymous leak of the Panama Papers brought to light millions of financial and legal documents exposing how the super-rich hide their money using complex webs of offshore vehicles.

“Spiderweb Capitalism”, a book by Kimberly Kay Hoang, Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago, sheds critical light on how global elites capitalize on risky frontier markets, and the people who facilitate the illicit movement of wealth across borders and around the globe. The talk will deepen our understanding of the paradoxical ways in which global economic growth is sustained through states where the line separating the legal from the corrupt is not always clear.

This talk is a closed-door session. Please join us in person on July 9 at 6:30 pm at the UChicago campus in Hong Kong.
